To Begin Soon

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 3.—Complete industrial unionization of the nation's vast steel industry was forecast today as a result of the epochal agreement signed here between Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, the largest in the industry, and John L. Lewis's steel workers organizing committee.

Leaders of the Lewis drive were jubilant as they announced the agreement which recognized the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin workers, the SWOC union, as a collective bargaining agent for those employees who are its members, guaranteed the 40-hour week and boosted pay rates to establish a $5 a day minimum for common labor.

Taylor Given Credit
To Myron Taylor, president of U. S. Steel corporation, was given the credit for bringing about the friendly conference of Carnegie-Illinois and SWOC, a conference that ended with a wage agreement and the dissolution of a 50-year breach between "big steel" and organized labor.

"This agreement is being hailed with delight in the industry and in meetings with public acclaim," said Philip Murray, chairman of the SWOC who led the negotiations which resulted in a signed agreement in the amazingly short time of two days.

The preliminary agreement signed by Benjamin F. Fairless, president of Carnegie-Illinois, and Murray and other leaders of the SWOC provides that a joint conference shall be held not later than March 10 for the purpose of effectuating a written agreement on working conditions, application of wage rates, hours, rules and a method for adjudication of disputes arising under the terms of the agreement and which agreement shall incorporate the terms of this agreement.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Had not a new inauguration date been established, President Roosevelt today would be getting ready to take his oath for the second term tomorrow, March 4 was always the inaugural date until January 20 became the inauguration day. Many are wondering if Thursday's weather will, or could, match the January inaugural day's of wretchedness.

The black Persian cat, "Walker," owned by one of The News reporters, vanished Saturday night as suddenly as the Blue Eagle. Numerous calls were received after an ad was inserted on the Classified page; one cat answered the description but was brown and had a striped face, another was black but had a white "jockey," and still another was black but not Persian and wore a collar. Today is "Walker's" birthday and his mistress is hoping he has many happy returns—home.

Ellwood Man Named Fish Commissioner

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, March 3.—Charles A. French, of Ellwood City, conservationist and sportsman, today was Gov. George H. Earle's choice for the post of fish commissioner to succeed Oliver M. Deibler. The post pays $6,000 a year.

His name was presented to the senate yesterday for confirmation following weeks of speculation as to who would succeed Deibler and when.

"Mr. French is a man of pleasing personality, a militant foe of stream pollution, and one of the leaders of the organized sportsmen and conservationists of Pennsylvania," said Governor Earle.

French was president and founder of the Ellwood City Rod and Gun club and later participated in the formation of the northwest division of the Federation of Sportsmen's clubs.

The division includes Butler, Erie, Crawford, Forest, Lawrence, Mercer, Venango, Warren and Clarion counties.

In 1935, French was named to the board of fish commissioners. He led a fight against stream pollution, especially in the French creek area.

Legislature May Turn Horse Racing Issue Over To Local Option

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN

HARRISBURG, March 3.—The 132nd legislature today toyed with the advisability of washing its hands of the controversial horse-racing issue by leaving it up to a local option vote.

This developed as the house ways and means committee was held a public hearing on the Melchiorre horse racing bill this afternoon.

With Gov. George H. Earle yet to come out definitely for or against the measure, Democratic legislators have, for the most part, remained non-committal on the issue until public sentiment crystallized. A local option vote, some administration leaders held, might be a way out, by permitting local communities to decide whether or not horse-racing should be legalized in their respective districts.

Battle Over Taxation Move.
Meanwhile, battle lines grew taut over utility legislation as quick-thinking Democratic floor leaders halted what appeared to be a threatening party break over the Holland bill permitting local taxation of public utility real estate.

Marked differences over provisions of the measure which its sponsors estimates would yield some $37,000,000 annually in local taxes, resulted in it being returned to committee for a public hearing.

The measure, defeated by a narrow vote at the first 1936 emergency session, was introduced by Rep. Elmer J. Holland, D., Alle-

WASHINGTON, March 3.—An administration poll disclosing the senate would now defeat any proposal to enlarge the supreme court, congressional leaders today were hopeful President Roosevelt's coming radio appeal to the nation will change sentiment on Capitol Hill in favor of his reform program.

Its contents guarded with secrecy, the poll convinced administration leaders that the president is their last resort to secure its enactment.

Hope Some Retire

A second hope advanced by these leaders was that those justices on the supreme court over 70 years of age may solve the controversy by early retirement. There was no indication of any such possibility but the new retirement law offers six of the present justices that opportunity.

"This second hope was believed to be behind the public appeal of Rep. Summers (D) of Texas, chairman of the house judiciary committee, for everybody to exhibit 'unselfish patriotic motives' in seeking a solution of the court controversy. It was felt by some that Summers anticipated several early retirements from the high court."

Blind Workers Stay On Strike

Continue Sit-Down In Pittsburgh Workshop Of Association For Blind

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 3.—Sightless and many of them aged and infirm, 107 blind sit-down strikers grumbled today continued grimly at the task of holding possession of the Pittsburgh workshop of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind here.

Only 70 of the sightless men remained on duty last night. The ordeal was too great for some 30 who were led home when the rigors of sleeping on bales of straw and rags and hard benches began to tell on them.

The strikers were awaiting bedding and food promised them by local labor organizations.

The strikers seek a flat weekly wage of $16 in addition to state pensions they receive for married men; a flat $12 weekly wage and pensions for single men; abolition of piece work; five weeks sick leave with full pay; two weeks paid vacations; abolition of a "spy" system and improvement of sanitary conditions.

THREE BATTLESHIPS TO BE CONSTRUCTED

LONDON, March 3.—As if timed in reply to Italy's "complete militarization," Britain's naval estimates for the next fiscal year were presented to parliament today, providing for construction of 80 warships in 1937-38.

The estimates amounted to about $525,000,000, an increase of $118,000,000 over last year's program.

The increased naval estimates accentuated the dramatic European arms race, which was brought forcibly to the attention of British citizens recently when this country's $7,500,000,000 rearmament program was announced, and carried a step further yesterday when Italy replied to Britain's program by placing her fighting men under virtually permanent mobilization.

The car was discovered in a limestone quarry near Rose Point this morning, Trooper Al Knudsen, in charge of the local state police detachment, stated today.

Miners Sit-Down Strike Is Ended

UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 3.—More than 200 rugged men of the mines emerged late Tuesday from the underground depths of a vast coal pit to end the first sit-down strike in the history of the bituminous fields.

While underground they ate food brought by wives, sweethearts and sisters and lowered by elevator into the depths.

The strike ended after the workers were advised by telegraph from John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, and William Hynes, District No. 4 president, that the action was unauthorized.

Man, Bride, And Former Suitor, Are Found Slain

(International News Service)
COUDERSPORT, Pa., March 3.—Circumstances and details of a triangular slaying were sealed in death today as authorities sought to piece together happenings culminating in death of a man, his bride of little over six weeks and her former suitor.

Principals in the death plot were George Brehmer, 27-year-old hardware store clerk; Brehmers' wife, 21, and John Scott, said to have been attentive to Mrs. Brehmer prior to her recent marriage.

Bodies of the three were found in the Brehmer home late yesterday by Richard Mansfield, a fellow worker of Brehmer. He had gone to the Brehmer home to ask Brehmer about a pistol he noticed missing from the store's stock.

The bodies of the three were sprawled out in the living room. A pistol, its fatal contents emptied, was lying beside the body of Brehmer.

Coroner Philip R. Shaw of Potter county expressed the opinion that Brehmer shot his young bride, then turned the gun on Scott before ending his own life.

A special jury was impaneled by Coroner Shaw to investigate the tragedy. No date for the inquest was set.

port Of Morning Hold-up

John Sukoski, Tarentum, R. D. 2, was held up and robbed by two hitch-hikers on the New Castle-Butler highway near Rose Point at 2 a. m. today, $15 and a sport coupe which he was driving from Detroit to Tarentum.

He told state police that he was enroute from New Castle and at a cross-road beyond Weigeltown picked up two hitch-hikers, both of whom were young.

After getting into the car one of them shoved something Sukoski believed a gun, against the side of his body, forced him from the car, took the $15 and sped away in the machine.

The car was discovered in a limestone quarry near Rose Point this morning, Trooper Al Knudsen, in charge of the local state police detachment, stated today.

Local Payrolls Will Be Swelled

Increased Wages Will Mean
Large Sum For Workers
Of New Castle

While no exact figures are available as to what the recent wage announcements of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation will mean to New Castle it is estimated that the wage increases will mean several hundreds of thousands of dollars per year. The increase affects the entire personnel of the Shenango and New Castle tin plants with their 3500 employees.

The wage increase calls for a minimum of $5 per day for labor and a ten per cent increase in wages and salaries. The monthly pay roll varies but for the past year has been consistently high.

Forty Hour Week Makes
Steel Companies Eligible
For U. S. Business

(International News Service)
"Let's go!"
That word went out from Pittsburgh, the steel capital, to the nation today.

Predictions of unprecedented prosperity were made in many quarters as signing of a one-year pact between John L. Lewis's steel workers organizing committee and the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation dissolved threats of a steel strike in the spring.

Production High
Production in steel was at an all-time high peak since 1931. The 40-hour week resulted in predictions of a possible shortage of labor.

The steady stream of pay increases continued after an unbroken pace as company after company fell in line with the $5 minimum day.

Order books of the steel industry bulged with huge backlogs.

And more orders were to come, because the 40-hour week made steel companies eligible to bid for U. S. government business under the Walsh-Healey act.

In New York the stock market whirled higher and higher, with steel leading the advance.

Workers Oppose W. P. A. Change

Protest Effort To Move
Headquarters To Beaver
County

Project workers of the Works Project Administration who are members of the Workers Alliance today expressed their disapproval of the proposal of Director J. Vale Downie to move the headquarters to Beaver county. The disapproval took the form of a resolution adopted by the Alliance here.

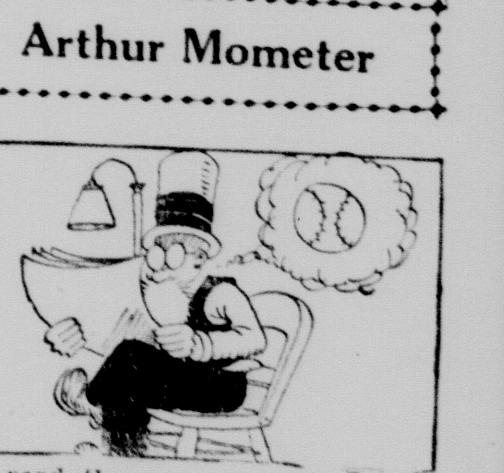

In it they point out that New Castle is the central point of district 14, that space is available in the building on South Mill street and further that Mr. Downie has not advanced any logical reasons for the change. The resolution is a joint one, the National Security Association joining in it. Copies are to be mailed to Harry L. Hopkins, national administrator and to Edward N. Jones, state administrator.

It was stated today by Samuel Reed, organizer of the Workers Alliance in New Castle that a public mass meeting has been called for city hall on Friday night, March 5 at which time the proposed removal will be discussed.

No new statements were forthcoming today in the situation although protest has gone on in Harrisburg from a number of leading Democrats over the proposal. It is possible that a solution may be worked out within a few days.

Urges Governor To Move To Keep Peace Before Outbreaks Occur

TWELVE HOSIERY PLANTS AFFECTED

(International News Service)
READING, Pa., March 3.—Governor George H. Earle was urged today by Berks county authorities to prevent possible disorders in the wake of the growing general hosiery strike in this area.

The time to prevent disorders is before they start, was the warning conveyed to the governor by borough and constables representing 11 boroughs and two townships in the county. Precautions were urged in the wake of the lack of disorder since the sit-down strike of 4,700 employees in 12 plants began on Monday.

Sit-Down Demonstration.

Within the past 24 hours more than 2,450 employees of four mills had joined the strike without incident. That brought the total number of mills tied up in the union's drive for contracts, wages and hours to 12, and practically doubled the number of strikers.

Largest of the plants to join the strike to date is the Nolde & Hort company, whose 1600 employees ceased work yesterday. While there was no violence, most of the employees refused to leave their rows of machinery.

In all but two instances the strike has taken the form of sit-down demonstrations. At the Howard mill, in Sinking Spring, 250 operators remained on the picket line, and at Mohnton, 125 employees of the W. G. Leiminger company still were locked out.

LEGISLATURE MAY TURN RACING ISSUE TO LOCAL OPTION

"Ripper" Sent Back.

The administration public service commission "ripper" bill also went back to committee for a public hearing after receiving second reading in the house. Its companion bill, putting "teeth" into the commonwealth's utility legislation, has not been brought forth from committee as yet.

The entire administration's $161,000,000 emergency tax program was advanced on the house calendar as Governor Earle prepared to make another "raid" on the motor license fund, this time for $5,700,000 to care for the state's unemployed.

Two weeks from tomorrow, March 18, is the house deadline for introduction of all but appropriation bills. As the legislature prepared to go into week-end adjournment it found its hopper chock full of administration proposals with only a few lacking. Both chambers were shortly expected to go on a "four day week" rather than meeting the first three days of every week. This move was expected to uphold hopes of mid-spring sine-die adjournment.

At Loggerheads.

Meanwhile, legislative leaders remained at loggerheads over labor legislation. A new labor relations bill is being drafted and a minimum wage law is expected to be introduced shortly.

The Dent bill establishing a 40-hour week for non-professional women workers found strong opposition from industrial and women groups at a public hearing on the measure yesterday and indications amendments would be forthcoming.

The Weiss workmen's compensation bill was rejected out of committee in a slightly amended form yesterday, but legislative leaders predicted many changes will be in order before it finds its way to the governor's desk for signature.

Seat Butler Democrat.

The house elections committee filed a majority Democratic report late yesterday favoring the seating of Brady Murrin, Butler Democrat, whose election was contested by Albert McClester, Republican. The Republican members of the committee filed a minority report upholding McClester but it was a virtual certainty Murrin would retain his post.

Committee work and public hearings was the order of the day and of days to come as the weeding out process assumed serious proportions.

The Maitland Primitive Methodist church, South Mill and Maitland streets, will have its annual society meeting Thursday night, March 4, at 7:30 o'clock.

compromise. Leaders of the opposition have rejected several offers to compromise by limiting the proposed increase of the supreme court to two additional justices. These compromise offers were made without the approval of the president, who desires to appoint six new justices if those over 70 do not retire.

Lenke Denounces

Debate over the president's program continued. Rep. William Lenke, North Dakota Farmer-Laborite who ran for president on a third party ticket last November, denounced the president's program as "unconscionable." He asserted the president himself had defeated the will of the people on 221 occasions by vetoing acts of congress, whereas the supreme court, in all its history, had killed only 77 acts of congress. In all, he added, presidents had vetoed 722 bills.

"Some of this legislation, vetoed by presidents, was just as important and affected as many lives as any decision of the supreme court," said Lenke. "Most of these acts were of minor importance as were most of the acts held unconstitutional by the supreme court."

Then in a direct attack on the president, Lenke said: "Our president, with his splendid personality, has become drunk with momentary victory and power—he has gone on a rampage. He has made up his mind to do the amending of the constitution himself by over-riding the supreme court."

Senator Logan (D) of Kentucky, after making a two-hour defense of the president's program in the senate, went on the radio in a debate with Senator Brown (D) of Michigan, who opposed the court increase.

The public-statement poll of the senate now stands: For the president, 29; against the president, 36.

two aircraft carriers, five 8,000-ton cruisers, two 5,300-ton cruisers, 16 "J" type destroyers, seven patrol type submarines and 45 smaller vessels—30 ships in all.

This year's program calls for one more battleship than last year's, but one less destroyer and one less submarine.

A memorandum accompanying the estimates stated that pending ratification of the 1936 London naval treaty, quantitative limitations contained in that pact were being observed in construction of new ships being laid down or projected.

Consolidated Fund.
Of the total amount, $135,000,000 will be provided from a consolidated fund in accordance with provisions of the British defense loan.

Personnel of the navy will be increased by 11,000 to 112,000. The memorandum explained that chief reasons for the increased new construction, personnel were increases in the fleet's air arm, modernization of capital ships, large-scale repairs and the necessity for making good deficiencies in stores and ammunition reserves.

It would take a treasury expert one hundred and two years to count one billion silver dollars.

Deaths of the Day

Samuel James Chambers.

Samuel James Chambers, aged 78 years, a prominent lifetime resident, member of an old Lawrence county family, was taken by death at 12:17 a. m. today at his home, 423 Court street.

With the passing of Mr. Chambers, New Castle loses a highly regarded citizen and the Second United Presbyterian church a faithful member of 50 years' duration. He had been in quite good health until four months ago when a weak heart condition developed and he was confined to his bed. His death followed that of his wife by just one year.

Mr. Chambers was born in North Beaver township on May 31, 1858, son of James and Margaret Warwick Chambers. In his early manhood he went into the livery business, and later the feed and coal business. For the past five years he served as assessor for the third ward, city of New Castle.

He was a member of the Men's Bible class, Second U. P. church, the Lodge of the Craft, No. 433, F. & A. M., and the New Castle Consistory. He was a 32nd degree Mason.

Fifty-two years ago last December 17, in New Castle, Mr. Chambers married Miss Agnes McMillen, and lost her by death in 1936.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Janet C. Eakin, wife of Dr. P. E. Eakin, at whose home he resided, one son, Edward McMillen Chambers, of Alliquippa, two grandchildren, Sam J. Chambers II of Alliquippa and Billy Eakin of New Castle, and one sister, Mrs. D. C. Kennedy of Moravia. Another sister, Mrs. A. C. Megown of New Castle, died last November.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence, 423 Court street, on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with the Rev. C. K. McGeorge, D. D., pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church in charge. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

STEEL PAY RATES ARE GIVEN BOOST BY AGREEMENT

number of Carnegie-Illinois employees who are members of the union although it has been estimated about 40,000 of the more than 100,000 Carnegie-Illinois workers are included in the 200,000 or more claimed by the SWOC.

The agreement removed for the present threats of a great steel strike which had hung like a pall over the vast steel sections of the country. And the wage increases signed by Carnegie-Illinois and a host of smaller independent companies sent a stream of money jangling into the pockets of the steel workers such as they had never known before.

Another significant factor was that "big steel" had shattered its heretofore united front with the other steel companies of the nation. Fairless acted alone in meeting with Murray and the SWOC. U. S. Steel and its subsidiary, Carnegie-Illinois, did not as they had always done in the past consult with other members of the American Steel & Iron Institute. And the institute declined to comment although several steel officials in the district unleashed some explosives in off-the-record conversations.

Announcement Signaling.
Signing of the history-making contract was announced by Murray in a few simple words, made public late last night with the approval of Fairless as the second conference broke up. The first conference on Monday lasted but an hour. The second began at 3 p. m. yesterday afternoon and lasted well into the night.

"You may say," said Murray, "that we completed a formal, signed contract at the meeting this afternoon."

It was indicated at both Carnegie-Illinois and SWOC offices that there had been a misinterpretation of signals and that announcement of the pay increase and 40-hour week was to have been held back and made simultaneously with announcement of the SWOC agreement. The pay boost was announced shortly after 3 p. m., however.

Murray said negotiations with other steel subsidiaries will begin.

Charles Henry Clark.
Charles Henry Clark, aged 43 years, of 1312 South Jefferson street, died in the New Castle hospital Tuesday at about noon, following an operation.

Mr. Clark was born in Muscogee county, Georgia, on February 17, 1894, son of Louis and Evelyn Clark. He resided for the past 17 years in New Castle and was a mill worker. He had been married for 16 years.

His wife, Rebecca Alexander Clark, the following children, Ella Mae, Charles Henry, Jr., Willie Fred and Major, and his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Clark, of this city, survive.

The body may be seen at the residence Thursday night. Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Bethel A. M. E. church with the pastor, Rev. William McPherson, in charge. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Adeline E. Emery.
Mrs. Adeline E. Emery, wife of Oliver W. Emery, of 1116 Croton avenue, died this morning at eight o'clock, following an extended illness.

She leaves her mother, her husband, five children: William Paul, Rebecca Louise, Charlotte Mae, Kenneth Leroy, and Charles Richard, all at home, and the following brothers and sisters: Perry and Joseph Keller, of Brent; Mrs. Delta Moon and Mrs. Jennie Nulf, of East Palestine, O.; and Mrs. Nancy Nulf, of Wheeling, W. A large number of friends and neighbors attended. The numerous floral pieces further signified the high esteem in which Mrs. Stuart was held.

Pallbearers were Frank Gibbons, Joseph McClaren, William Shira and Jack Barnett. Interment was made in Graceland cemetery.

Firemen Save Home In Borough

City firemen saved the home of John Grazvich, of Morris street, in South New Castle Boro this morning at 10 o'clock, when fire of unknown origin spread through the home. The loss was $500.

The blaze started in a closet and broke through the outside wall of the home. It had worked its way up under the roof, and firemen extinguished the blaze only after a difficult fight.

As in Pennsylvania, farm debts are a problem in Yugoslavia, so that National banks of the latter country has paid off the creditors with government bonds and will reduce the debts by as much as 50 per cent to make it easier for the farmers to get out of debt.

The History of the United States Supreme Court was interestingly told by Angelo J. Casacchia Tuesday evening in the Elks club, North Mill street, when he addressed brother members of the Wolves club.

Mr. Casacchia spoke briefly about the past history of the present personnel of the court. He also outlined the duties of the court and the manner in which the members are selected. Relative to President Roosevelt's plan to increase the supreme court Mr. Casacchia presented arguments pro and con. His address contained much food.

The organization meets again on Tuesday evening, March 16.

REV. AND MRS. CADWELL HONORED AT FAREWELL

Another, and perhaps the largest reception event for Rev. and Mrs. Merrill Cadwell, occurred Tuesday evening in the parlors of the First Christian church, when 150 churchgoers gathered to bid farewell to the popular couple. Rev. Cadwell is now assistant pastor of the church, and is making preparations to leave New Castle to take over the pulpit of a church in another city.

A lively touch was added to the affair throughout the evening by the entire group joining in song. Carl Gilmore led, and the group was accompanied on the piano by Miss Emma Patton and Mrs. Merrill Cadwell.

Solos were also contributed, being rendered by James Bowman and Jay Gerold. Rev. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the church, delivered an inspiring farewell address, telling the group of the merits of Rev. Cadwell and expressing the good wishes of the church for success in his future work.

Members of the Young Married People's class of the church, held a typical Seth Parker program, which was a period of songs and poetry recitation. Attorney C. H. Young, president of the executive board, gave a short presentation speech and presented a gift to the Cadwells.

Assistant Superintendent of the Sunday school, Amos Meyers, also was among the speakers of the evening. Rev. Cadwell spoke and proclaimed his appreciation for all the kindness shown him and his wife throughout their stay in New Castle.

Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Ira Snider and Joseph Lindsay. Mrs. Joseph Riley, Mrs. Mina Herbold and Mrs. M. Ketchum. The meeting closed with the group singing "God Will Take Care of You."

Rainbow Board

Advisory board of Rainbow Assembly of Girls will have a meeting Friday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. F. P. Urey, Laurel boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter De Arment and Mrs. Marie Horner will be joint hostesses with Mrs. Urey.

NEWLYWEDS TAKE UP RESIDENCE HERE

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Speed, the latter the former Florence Barry prior to her marriage on February 2, this year, have taken up residence at 506 Sampson street, this city.

The wedding took place at New Cumberland, West. Va., with the Rev. John H. Lambertson, Methodist pastor, officiating. Their only attendants, were Miss Eva Lent and Robert Thompson, New Castle.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Barry of 2306 Highland avenue, and the groom, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Speed of the Butler road. Both are associated with the local pottery.

STYLE SHOW-BRIDGE OF B. P. W. MARCH 9

Plans are well on the way for the most elaborate style show and card party the Business and Professional Women's club of New Castle has ever had.

It will take place in the ballroom of the Elks club on Tuesday night, March 9. Through the courtesy of the Strouss-Hirshberg company management in putting on the style show and the cooperation of the club members in promoting this annual affair the club is enabled to carry on its clinic work of providing eyeglasses for under-privileged children.

One of the recent cases cared for by the club was that of a little girl who with the aid of glasses has 20 per cent vision. Sad indeed would be her condition without the glasses New Castle's B. P. W. club presented to her.

The proceeds of last year's party were turned over to the Red Cross for flood relief; never, unless the club provided glasses for 32 children during the year.

Miss Mary Bigley is chairman of the committee in charge. There will be a prize for each bridge table, it is announced.

FIELD CLUB STAG HOST ANNOUNCED

Plans are in readiness for a stag party to be conducted at the New Castle Field club Thursday evening for its membership and presiding as host will be S. E. Patterson.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the men will enjoy a round of card playing, with prizes to be awarded those successful in winning honors. A smoker and the serving of an appetizing lunch will complete the informal program.

The dining room of the Third U. U. church was the mecca for members of the W. W. M. G. class Tuesday evening, who staged their annual banquet at 6:30 o'clock with a good attendance. Election of officers took place and other features added to the importance of the occasion.

The banquet tables were colorfully decorated in a theme of green and white. A bouquet of green carnations, mixed with other flowers of white, combined with slender lighted tapers arranged in slanting positions, adorned the center.

Large lighted candles at either end completed the setting. The sumptuous menu was served by members of section D of the Y. L. B. of the church. President Ernest King introduced as toastmistress Jane Kyle, who performed her duties throughout the evening in a most capable manner.

Immediately following the close of attention of the entire assembly was given to their guest speaker, Gilbert Colnot, Sr. He gave an inspiring talk on "Two Worlds."

Further entertainment was contributed by John Kyle, who gave several vocal selections, with his sister, Jane Kyle, at the piano. Miss Kathryn Newbury pleased with a piano number. A quartet composed of Mrs. LeRoy Book, Mrs. Ernest King, John Kyle and Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates of this city, gave a group of numbers with Miss Newbury accompanist.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Colnot, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McKibben, Rev. and Mrs. Chester T. R. Yeates of this city; John Kyle, Joe McCarthy of Beaver Falls.

Special interest was manifested in the revealing of "Myster Sisters" whose names were drawn a year ago. Gifts were exchanged among the group, with names of the giver attached. It was decided to meet on the fourth Tuesday of each month, instead of the first as has been the custom, the next regular event falling on March 23. Mrs. George Matlocks of County Line street, will entertain.

MEN'S GARDEN CLUB HEARS FINE TALK

"Mendelism of Flowers" was the main topic of discussion at the regular meeting of the Men's Garden club, which was held Tuesday evening in the studio of Professor C. G. Lindner, Washington street. John Robinson used the discussion topic for an enlightening talk. He illustrated his many interesting points with charts.

A nominating committee composed of Frank Stevens, O. P. Fox, C. G. Lindner, Ralph Reed, N. R. Casillo, was named to nominate candidates for office. The election will take place at the annual business meeting on April 6, in Prof. Lindner's studio.

Report from the committee which was named at the last meeting to approach council on the matter of improving the Public Square, was given by Professor Lindner, chairman of the committee. The report was favorable inasmuch as the council will work along with the men of the Garden club in accomplishing this project.

During the business session a discussion was heard on the matter of the removal of the WPA offices from Lawrence county, and the general viewpoint, was that the group is opposed to this act.

A hike was planned for Sunday, March 21. The complete details and meeting place in regard to the hike will be announced later.

A YOUNG MAN OF DISCRETION

LARRY KELLEY, of Yale, is one of the romantic figures of football history. This young man had something more than an extraordinary flair for a thrilling game. He brought to his performances on the field a distinctive personality that lent to his play certain theatrical aspects that singled him out in the eyes of the masses.

The opportunities opened to him upon the completion of his college career were innumerable. In a number of ways he could have commercialized his reputation to great advantage. It is a tribute to his common sense, however, that he chooses to look beyond the glittering prospects that have their origin in his status as a noted athlete and hold no aspects of permanence.

Instead of accepting generous offers from professional baseball, football and radio interests, Kelley will go to Peddie School as a teacher of American history and at the same time will study at the Princeton University Graduate School. In reaching this decision he has chosen the better part. Far too many college men with brilliant athletic records have yielded to allurements similar to those held out to Kelley, only to find in a year or two that they have made an unfortunate decision.

JAPAN'S OLYMPICS

At first the Japanese were eager to have the next Olympic Games in their country. Then they worried about many little matters, such as whether all the foreign athletes will be spies, and whether the morals of Japanese girls will be upset.

Now they have come around again to being glad their invitation was accepted and have started great preparations for the games. First is the big plan for housing the games and the contestants. But there are other matters, too.

Word is being passed around that foreigners do not like the traditional Japanese greeting to a new acquaintance, "How old are you?" That is to be dropped, if possible, from Japanese speech. Next, study of the English language is to be speeded up. Department stores and business firms are hiring English teachers for their employees. Policemen are learning the language so they can help visitors more successfully.

There is also a plan to rid Tokyo, where the games will be held, of mosquitoes. Work has already begun on this project. And "fundoshi," or advertising signs, are to be removed from the business district. Here is a nation remaking itself in many ways in the name of hospitality. Wouldn't it be a delicate courtesy for foreigners to learn Japanese and practice up a little on their best manners?

PUNITIVE TAXES FOR CROP CONTROL

Intimations that Secretary Wallace will include penalty taxes in his new farm legislation program are decidedly disquieting. The statement that punitive levies would be used only as a last resort to insure against over-production provides no justification. The threat hanging over the farmers would be equivalent to compulsory crop control. Crop limitation under the old AAA was, in theory at least, voluntary, although most farmers found it necessary to sign up in order to compete on equal terms with their neighbors. Prohibitive taxes on surplus crops of cotton, tobacco and potatoes were imposed by separate laws, which were quickly repealed at the President's request when the Supreme Court nullified AAA. The potato law, because of its especially oppressive administrative features, was rapidly approaching nullification by aroused public opinion when AAA was overturned by the Court's decision.

Mr. Wallace, according to dispatches, considers punitive taxes vital to the proposed system of an "ever normal granary" and crop insurance backed by the Government. But in recommending these measures President Roosevelt has suggested that they be confined at first to wheat. In other words, he would regard them as experiments. There should be no need, therefore, for swinging the big stick over the farmers. The storage or granary plan is designed to take care of surpluses.

In this connection the Brookings Institution favors crop insurance under Government sponsorship if it is established on an actuarial basis. But it is not enthusiastic over the granary plan. On the advisability of crop controls in general the experts of this institution are divided in opinion.

There should be a solution of the surplus problem, but it should not be attempted through the misuse of the taxing power which Secretary Wallace seems so eager to invoke.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

LOST—ONE MERCHANT MARINE

More than one curious fact can be gleaned from the large increase in shipbuilding in the United States, and no less an authority than William McFee, a competent maritime officer and author, points out that although there is an extensive program under way for the construction of destroyers, submarines, aircraft carriers, cruisers and patrol vessels, yet there is not a passenger vessel or a fast freighter being built.

The American Merchant Marine, to which we look with great pride—principally because we once possessed such astounding craft as the Yankee Clippers—is ignored in the latest shipbuilding rush, and the present fleet, the average age of whose ships is about seventeen years, is either obsolescent or entirely obsolete. There are a few exceptions in building up something to help out their financial interests. For but these have been built with the aid of Government subsidies.

The American Merchant Marine is thus reduced to a farce, principally, as Mr. McFee points out, because the country has no financial authorities who feel that modern merchant tonnage is a good investment. We do not believe that the Government ought to shoulder the responsibility of providing adequate tonnage for the use of the shipping lines; that devolves on the lines themselves, because, after all, they are the ones that profit from maritime commerce and they are the ones that build up the handsome returns on their investment—provided, of course, that they operate on sensible and practical lines.

There has been a great deal of shouting and screaming about our merchant marine, but yells of denunciation, and cries of fear will not build ships. That must come from the men who are most interested what are they waiting?

The Parent Problem

IDEAS ON DIET

Some while ago I relayed to you a few statements by President Edna Dean Baker, of the National College of Education, on the young child's questions about God. In the article referred to, President Baker also reported some descriptions given by grown-ups as embodying their earliest notions about God. To quote some of them:

"A very good man. If I prayed earnestly, He would save me from snakes and from lightning. I used to gaze at the pictures in my mother's Bible and think that all pictures were God."

"A king on a great throne with all the angels kneeling about Him."

"The form of a man with a long white beard and a flowing robe. I gained this idea from a Sunday school picture."

"A person looking like the picture of Jesus blessing little children."

"An old man. A picture of Father Time gave the first image. After that I always thought of God as having a long gray beard, and carrying a sickle in his hand."

"A very large being. He was very much larger than human beings. He was probably as tall as the trees. He always wore long white robes and I used to imagine Him walking about up there in the sky."

"A strong, stalwart man like my father, only one who loved all boys and girls in the world as we were loved by our father."

"Kind Of Mother"

"Someone who was as kind as my mother, and who, like my mother would be very, very, sorry if He found it necessary to punish anyone for misbehavior, and who knew even more than my mother."

"The rainbow. My first conception of God was when my mother was telling me that God made the rainbow. So I thought that God was a very beautiful light."

"An invisible being in the heavens. I never thought that he was any figure but just all over."

Miss Baker tells of a boy of six who made an engagement with his teacher that he might ask her some questions about God. The teacher agreed to tell the lad what her understanding then was of God. She tried to put her ideas in words that he could comprehend.

"God is a spirit. We cannot see Him. God is like the air. We feel it but we do not see it. God is like love. We feel it but we cannot see it or hear it or touch it. We sometimes say of God that He is love, because of all the beauty and goodness in our world. God has no one abiding place because He is a spirit. He is everywhere at the same time."

A SERIOUS QUESTION

A MAN HAD the flu and I said to him: "What did you do with all that time?"

"Well," said he, "at first I was just miserable, weak and shak, and sick. And then I was 90 per cent disgusted. It seemed so silly for the complicated human body to succumb so easily to the attack of a germ I couldn't even see with a microscope. I thought about that a lot, but I never got anywhere. . . . And then I got even angrier because I didn't get well quicker than I did. That seemed sillier than being sick in the first place. I pleaded, I sneered, I commanded myself to get well, but nothing did any good. . . . Finally I decided there was nothing for me to do but wait. . . . It was very humiliating to discover how little control I had, after all, over this body that's supposed to be mine—or, at least, that's supposed to be me."

"But didn't you do any thinking?" said I.

"I can't answer that question," said the man who'd had the flu. "Sometimes I thought I was thinking, but how could I tell? One morning I spent about an hour wondering if a man was a hypocrite who acted polite when he didn't feel polite, who said kind words when he wanted to use words as rough as a cow's tongue. . . . And I wondered what kind of life it would be if everybody said exactly what they thought. But I ran up against the hard fact that half the time most of us don't know what we are thinking. And I remembered that on the occasion when I found myself among people who made a fetish of the truth they said very silly or dumb or disagreeable things and nobody had a good time as they thought they were having. So this business of Deliberate Frankness never seems to work out. . . . But while I had the flu it did seem a very serious question."

"May I congratulate you," said I, "on getting THAT out of your system?"

March 12th Babies

As has been his custom for many years the Hints and Dints Man will give Five Dollars for all babies born on March 12. This doesn't mean any other March 12. Twins will get $15. Quints according to their looks. Proof of birth must be presented at The News office before April 1, 1937. Doctor's certificate is the medium of proof.

While the Five Dollars is given to the parents of the baby, the beauty of this arrangement is that you get to collect the Five Dollars and still keep the baby. This money will be given freely to the parents of any baby entitled to it. Step up and get it. Sometimes people born fifty years ago ask for the money.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

The value of advertising is not for the advertiser alone. It is to a great extent a guarantee to the prospective purchaser of the faith and practice of the advertiser in his goods and merchandising.

Every product which newspaper advertising brings into the public eye demands of the advertiser that he stake his own particular reputation on the announcement which he makes. He puts himself on record as to the standard of quality and value of what he advertises. From it he dare not depart if he hopes to maintain the confidence of the buying public.

Advertising is not alone a bid for the business of readers, but it is the written pledge of the merchant to the buyer. The public has come to recognize this. In this side of the value of advertising can be found much of the reason for the success of merchants who continue in general favor and popularity.

Advertising not only attracts customers but its continued use inspires confidence of the buying public in the integrity of a business that is prepared at all times to stake its reputation for quality and value in the public prints.

DEAR MISS MARKE—I have a very tiny bedroom which I am about to redecorate. Can you give me any suggestions for effects which might make this room appear larger than it is?—Young Girl.

Answer—If possible, your woodwork should be light in color, preferably white or ivory. Decorate your walls in a light green or light blue paint or paper which will give a widening effect to your walls.

If you prefer wallpaper, choose that with a small, inconspicuous design and shun diamond-shaped figures, which will come forward and together. Your ceiling should be lighter than your walls to give it the appearance of height.

A single or three-quarter bed, if practicable, will be a space saver. Furniture of small scale should be selected to conform to the size of the room.

On draperies, using instead crisp-cross glass curtains with a rich valance or, better still, no valance at all.

Dear Miss Marke—Please suggest an appropriate color to paint bedroom furniture. The walls are buff and brown. What color curtains should I have?—Mrs. K.

Answer—Green furniture made with a buff background and green or brown figures. If you do not desire draperies, glass curtains of cream color would be attractive.

BANKERS' VIEW

Banking Journal of the American Bankers' association, explains it in this manner:

"In view of the fundamental uncertainties confronting business at present and the obstacles which must be overcome, the conclusion is warranted that much of the present day activity is a reflection of speculative psychology. This, in turn, has been induced largely by the difficulty of securing fair returns from fixed yield investments, a situation which logically lures money into speculative channels."

"It should be emphasized that even if the government could manage authorities take all action within their power to control speculation and prevent the misuse of credit, their efforts will be only partly effective as long as the deficit-creating expenditures of the government continue. These expenditures pour buying power into the banks of the country."

SECURITIES DOWN?

British money no longer will be able to pour into American securities, raising stocks and bonds to new levels according to some financial writers. The money will be absorbed in the purchase of armament in the United States.

John W. Love, financial writer for the Cleveland Press, close observer of steel trends, remarks:

"Just why the British cannot buy too much of both securities and armament in this country is partly a matter of taxes, partly one of exchange. Taxes, because investors taxed for a seven-billion-dollar program cannot invest the same money. Exchanges, because a country can buy only with what it sells or borrows, or ship gold."

DEBTS GONE

Incidentally, payment of war debts may be accepted defiantly as a myth.

The wealth of Europe has drained into the United States, and the nations which owe the money are living on a hand-to-mouth basis, their wealth sapped away.

The debts could be paid, in part, only if the United States had not drained Europe of its gold, had instead exchanged goods for goods.

Mussolini Answers Britain's Challenge For Armed Supremacy

Five-Year Program Is Laid

Down By Premier Mussolini In Rome Today

Program Calls For Complete "Militarization" Of Entire Italy

By FRANK GERVASI
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, March 3.—Premier Mussolini Tuesday answered Britain's challenge for armed supremacy by laying down a five-year program increasing Italian military strength in all categories and placing the nation on a permanent war basis.

His far-reaching program of preparedness for war against "eventual aggression of nations rich in money and natural resources" was announced through the Fascist grand council, which held a meeting that lasted well into the morning.

Without specifying how much the program would cost, Mussolini called for "complete militarization" of the nation, according to an official communiqué.

Leaves No Doubt
Mussolini left no doubt the far-reaching program is Italy's retort to Britain's challenge for armed supremacy, declaring:

"Only with the aid of science and the valor of people ready for any event can peoples less richly endowed resist eventual aggression of nations rich in money and natural resources."

During the five-hour meeting, the entire critical European situation was reviewed by Premier Mussolini, Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano and other members of the Fascist high command.

Decisions Announced
The official communiqué announcing the council's dramatic decisions stated:

"The council considers the military preparations of the nation satisfactory, but that every possibility, however remote, of limitation of armaments is now definitely to be excluded."

Therefore, said the statement, the following decisions were reached:

1.—Establishment of a plan for further, adequate increase of the armed forces.

2.—Continuation for five years of the duties of the commissariat general for war manufactures.

3.—Complete militarization of all active forces of the nation between the ages of 18 and 55, with periodic recall to the colors of conscript classes liable to mobilization.

4.—Attainment of maximum self-sufficiency as regards military requirements and total sacrifice, if necessary, of civil in favor of military needs.

5.—An invitation of Italian scientists and technicians to collaborate in rapid attainment of this maximum of self-sufficiency.

Support Rebels
The communiqué said that following a report by Count Ciano on the international situation, the grand council expressed its solidarity with nationalist Spain and saluted the armed forces of rebel Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The statement said Franco's victory in the civil war "must represent a death blow to Bolshevism in the west and establishment of a new order of power and social justice for the Spanish people."

Sharon Teachers Ask Pay Raise

SHARON, Pa., March 3.—Sharon school directors, working on their budget for the 1937-38 fiscal year, today were faced with a request from senior high school teachers for salary increases which would restore the 1931 level and provide a general 5 per cent increase.

Workers at the high school cafeteria also demanded a return to the 1931 wage rate.

The teachers' petition was returned to the petitioners with instructions to submit it to Prof. W. D. Gamble, superintendent of schools, who will make his recommendations at a special session of the directors, to be held March 15, when details of the budget will be taken up.

Return to the 1931 salary level would increase the budget appropriations $6,500. A general 5 per cent increase would cost a much larger sum, for it probably would be necessary to extend it to include all teachers in the city.

Council Of Girl Scouts Has Meeting

Session Last Night In New Scout Headquarters On South Mercer Street

EDWINA CONNERY MAY BE DELEGATED

The March meeting of the Girl Scout Council took place Tuesday night in the new headquarters, 17½ South Mercer street, second floor, and the new Girl Scout director, who took over her duties yesterday morning, Miss Eleanor LeFevre, was present.

Of great interest to the council was the announcement by Mrs. W. H. Hanger that the training committee has chosen Miss Edwina Connery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Connery of Crescent avenue, as a possible candidate for delegacy to the international encampment at Camp Macy and Camp Andree, Briar Cliff Manor, N. Y., August 9 to 23.

Edwina's qualifications are excellent and her name has been sent to national headquarters with the recommendation of the local council that she be made official delegate for the state of Pennsylvania or Region Three. One delegate will be sent from each state, two from each region.

Mrs. Paul Butz was invited to be a member of scout council and serve on the camp committee of which Miss Edwina Connery is chairman.

Miss LeFevre was instructed to send eight reservations for local council members and leaders to the 18th annual regional convention, Region Three, at Wilmington, Del., April 19, 20 and 21.

Council decided to order 25 Red Bud trees from the Lawrence County Garden Forum to be planted according to advice from the city tree commission.

The next meeting, on Tuesday, April 6, will probably take place at the South Mercer street headquarters.

and after the experimental stage, it is said the new locomotive should be manufactured for between $120,000 and $140,000.

Like the Diesel, the new locomotive would use low grade fuel oil. The power plant consists of an oil-fired boiler with automatic controls, a cross-compound turbine, and an air-cooled condenser, which together form a closed steam system. The locomotive would require no water stations, and therefore, no expensive treating plants would be necessary for operation.

The new engine would have a maximum speed of 110 miles per hour and would be capable of sustained high speeds. Having a low center of gravity, it would be stable on the tracks and would not tend to hop or sway. It would have no water stations, and therefore, no expensive treating plants would be necessary for operation.

Economy in fuel use, it is claimed, would result from the fact that the locomotive would use an "elastic" gas (steam), whereas the Diesel uses a nearly plastic gas (carbon dioxide). Therefore, it is said, the steam plant should produce a greater available horsepower per pound of fuel and result in cheaper fuel cost per ton-mile. In addition, as the steam turbines are to run at a constant speed, they should prove more efficient than a variable speeds of the Diesel. This should give the steam plant a longer effective life and consequent lower maintenance charges over its total life.

The locomotive would be as readily adaptable to freight service as any electric engine now in service without the added cost of power transmission systems.

Probe Theft Of Eggs From Bakery

Charged with stealing approximately 40 dozen of eggs, from the Alpern and Katz bakery company room, Saturday night, Louis Hobarth, of Jefferson and Moravia streets, told Eighth Ward Alderman B. J. Biondi, East Long avenue, a puzzling story, Tuesday afternoon. As a result, Hobarth was held pending further investigation.

Called to the stand to explain the disappearance of the 480 eggs, Hobarth said that on Saturday he did indulge in a little beer and whiskey drinking but believes he went home. He told Alderman Biondi someone else stole the eggs and blamed it on him. An employee of the company told of seeing Hobarth walking out with a bag filled with eggs, Saturday.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Supreme Court Is Not Popular

Is Too Exclusive To Make It Popular With Newspaper Men At Capitol

JUSTICES ONCE EASY TO MEET

Central Press Washington Bureau, 602 Times-Herald Bldg. By CHARLES P. STEWART, Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—The United States supreme court's great weakness is that it is unpopular with the press.

It is too inhumanly exclusive. The Washington correspondents' feeling is that no nine individuals, young or old, are entitled to arrogate themselves as much dignity as that little body surrounds itself with.

A reporter personally may be opposed to the court's "packing," but he can't but feel from his own experience, that the bench's self-esteem needs protecting.

INACCESSIBLE

Even one "good fellow" among the nine would take the curse off. He would not have to discuss cases in advance—to say anything improper.

He could humanize the court by chatting about nothing more legally important than the weather.

ONCE TALKED

They weren't always so. Chief Justice Hughes, as secretary of state, received the newspaper boys regularly.

Justice Stone, as attorney general, was open to be interviewed upon any legitimate excuse. I've done it—when he was attorney general.

But since he has been a supreme justice? Heavens, no!—what an impropriety!

LIKE GODS ON HIGH

I know newspapermen who were in close touch with Justices Sutherland, Butler, Roberts and Cardozo in their pre-supreme court days. Now they can't come within attendants' reach of any of them.

Justices Van Devanter, McReynolds and Brandeis? Gods sitting on Olympus!

Ask one of them what he thinks of the next drouth prospect and you will land in the District of Columbia jail in short order.

I once had a request for a talk from the late Justice Holmes on some inconsequential matter. "If you could get it," his then secretary told me, "I'd say you could sell that thing for $100,000."

ROBES DETRACT?

The clothes that the supreme justices wear, in my judgment, have much to do with the majesty that invests them.

Robes! They make the justices look august.

I know Justice Stone best. In an ordinary sack suit in the justice department, where he used to preside, he was just an ordinary cabinet member. In the supreme court, in a silken gown, he is altogether a different personage.

In his "store clothes" I could go see him. Judicially clad—my! no!

WHY?

I know Chief Justice Hughes next best.

When he was secretary of state I could see him at least a couple of times weekly at his regular press conferences. Now I could not see him without an amendment to the constitution.

So far as I can see, the only difference is in apparel.

Congress wears ordinary clothes; the supreme court is rigged out judicially.

Fayette County Coroner Resting At Uniontown, Pa.

Coroner Baltz, Indicted Along With Gunderman And Sanute Is Convalescing

(International News Service) UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 3.—Dr. S. A. Baltz, Fayette county coroner, was resting at his home here Tuesday after returning from the Veterans' hospital at Aspinwall where he had been a patient for the past seven weeks.

Indicted as an accessory after the fact in Fayette county's sensational "third degree" case, Dr. Baltz rose from a hospital bed to appear on the witness stand at Somerset as a key witness during the trial of Stacey Gunderman.

He suffered a relapse at that time but his general condition improved slowly and attending physicians permitted him to return to his home with the provision that he remain in bed.

Black Legion Member Guilty Of Conspiracy

(International News Service) DETROIT, March 3.—Nine of 16 alleged black legionnaires who stood trial here on charges of conspiracy to kill Arthur Kingsley, Highland Park publisher, in a cult plot, Tuesday were found guilty by Judge John V. Brennan. Seven others were acquitted.

Those convicted were N. Ray Markland, former Highland Park mayor; Arthur F. Lupp, reputed state commander of the night-riding clan; Alvis Clark, Willard Foster, Matthias Gunn, Roy Hepner, Frank Howard, Hubert James and Ruyard K. Wallman, the latter seven members of the black legion. They were convicted of plotting to kill Kingsley because the publisher opposed the election of Markland. Feature of the trial was the testimony of Dayton Dean, black legion triggerman, who said he had been hired to murder Kingsley but never caught up with him.

Recommend That Air Regulations Undergo Change

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, March 3.—Sweeping reorganization of air transportation regulations was proposed today by Chairman Lea (D) of California of the house interstate commerce committee.

The measure makes the interstate commerce commission the regulatory body, while leaving safety regulations in the department of commerce.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only makebiffs. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. See

Ventriloquism Does Comeback

Edgar Bergen Strikes Fame
After Having Hard
Time In English
Variety

ANACHRONISMS
ARE STILL FOUND

By O. O. McIntyre
NEW YORK, March 3—Since the vaudeville starring days of Marshall Montgomery, there has been a lapse in ventriloquism acts. And along came Edgar Bergen with his English toff dummy, the monocled and high-natted Charlie McCarthy and gave fresh panache to an almost forgotten art.

Bergen, Chicago born, has been knocking around in variety chiefly in the English and continental music halls, for O. O. McIntyre 17 years. Just as good then as now. But like the estimable Frank Bacon, doomed to rattle about in obscurity until the Big Moment arrived.

Rudy Vallee, of course, gave him a tremendous leg up by repeat performances on his radio hour. His act in the main is as old as ventriloquism—the dummy on the knee and the cross-fire patter. But the approach has a freshness and very catchy.

The dummy, in the manner of Phil Baker's stogie, does the questioning, has all the smart lines and asides and makes a complete sap out of his manipulator. Revivals are in the air. It would not surprise many to see the ancient Indian Club juggler take billing again.

Not many writers—with the exception of Albert Payson Terhune with his colts—have made their hobby pay so handsomely as Corey Ford. A thoroughgoing city chap, he suddenly became converted to the thrills of fishing and hunting, built a sanctuary in deep Vermont and pends most of his leisure with rod and gun. Then he began marketing articles on these two diversions and perhaps hawks more of this sort of material than any one of his time.

Every afternoon in seasonable weather there appears in Central Park a rubber-tired run-about drawn by a spanking, cobbled bay with a driver, an Adam's apple gentleman in natty garments of the fashionable driving days—low bowler, fauntoned vest, Ascot tie and lemon-colored gloves. He circles the park twice at merry clip, looking neither right nor left. At the finish a groom is on hand to take the horse and gig to the stable and the owner glides off in his waiting limousine. The sparrow cops, unaware of his identity, call him "Mr. Gay Ninety."

Another anachronism that pivots passers-by near Radio Center is the little shop that sells old fashioned candies. Such as coconut flag strips, hoarhound nigger babies, jaw breakers with the caraway seed in the center, licorice straps and other such confectionary caprices as the tin skillet with the sugary fried eggs, candy filled glass revolvers, red hot peppermint drops, etc. The proprietress, a New Englander and a ringer for the Lydia E. Pinkham photographs in the ads, also acts as exchange for fancy work and home made jellies and pies. A real life character out of Way Down East.

The most extensive costuming among professional entertainers is for the ballroom dancers. Those who must appear ultra in evening clothes two and three times a night. The spotlight is on them always in action and they are so close to the customers that any style dereliction is instantly noted. To be sartorially superb is a part of the act. A season's outlay for the DeMarcos, for instance, is in excess of $5,000, and that for Volez and Yolande in the same bracket.

New York has two dinky German street bands that have survived. There were once a half hundred quartered in Yorkville, and all made a living. The war and antipathy to things Teutonic stopped their compaigning and in the interim came the radio with free music. The surviving bands rarely roam Manhattan. Their fertile fields are in the small suburbs. Strangely, in the swank suburbs on Long Island.

The Boston is in disbrace again after making way with a saucer of candy thought out of reach. By agreement, no one is to notice him until sun-down. He has employed all the artifices of flattery to get in standing again, to no avail. So now he's in the corner looking pensive. It reminds me of the days I used to droop on the cellar steps after the circus parade trying to look so forlorn Grandma would have pity and dig down in her black peau de sole dress pocket for the general admission quarter. And she never failed me. Grandmas were like that.

In a note from California: "I came out here for the winter—and got it!"

ASK NEW TRIAL FOR TROOPER GUNDERMAN

Defense Counsel In Surprise Move

Reverses Previous Attitude And Files Appeal For Convicted Trooper

SANUTE JURY NOT COMPLETE TUESDAY

(International News Service)
SOMERSET, Pa., March 3.—A motion for a new trial for State Trooper Stacey Gunderman was on file today while efforts were being made to obtain additional talesmen to complete the jury that is to try Gunderman's buddy, State Trooper Anthony Sanute. One regular juror and two alternates have yet to be chosen.

In filing a motion for a new trial for Gunderman, Chief Defense Counsel John Duggan, Jr., completely and unexpectedly reversed himself. On the night of the verdict Duggan commented he could see no ground for an appeal or for a motion for a new trial for the state trooper convicted of second degree murder in the alleged "third degree" slaying of Frank C. Monaghan, 64, Uniontown hotel keeper.

Although Duggan refused to indicate whether he would ask that Gunderman be released on bond pending decision on his motion for a new trial, belief was expressed that such a move would be followed.

Demands New Trial

Duggan demanded a new trial on the grounds the jury's verdict condemning Gunderman was first, against the law as the jury had received it from Supreme Court Justice George W. Massey, specially presiding; second, against the judge's charges; third, against the weight of evidence; and fourth, against the evidence itself. Duggan has an additional 10 days in which to file additional reasons.

While picking of the jury that is to try Sanute temporarily bogged down when the original panel of talesmen was depleted, another incident fanned the interest in this small mountain hamlet. Thomas Courtney, Connellsville coal man, charged by Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti with attempts to "fix" the Gunderman jury, was arrested. His seizure, after a lengthy search, created a great sensation.

Courtney, it appeared, had been in Somerset constantly while search was being made for him. Belief was expressed that he was attempting to raise bond—which was set at $4,000 in the case of former County Detective R. E. Buckman, arrested Monday on a similar charge.

Courtney refused to say anything following his arrest, according to Margiotti. Buckman has already told investigators, however, according to Margiotti, that he had driven Courtney to see two tipstaves in charge of the Gunderman jury at their homes, but denied any knowledge of any attempts to influence them.

Only three jurors were chosen yesterday in addition to the eight chosen Monday.

Jones and Laughlin Employees Given Wage Increase

Common Labor Rate Of $5 Per Day Included In New Agreement

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 3.—The 25,000 employees of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation in this district today were given a pay boost and the promise of further increases if the 40-hour week is adopted. A statement issued by the company, establishing the basic $5 day minimum, stated:

"The Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation announces that, as a result of collective bargaining with its employee representatives, a common labor rate of $5 for an eight-hour day has been granted, effective March 16, 1937. Adjustments will be made in other rates."

"The question of limiting the work week to 40 hours with time and a half for overtime is under discussion with the employee representatives and a decision is expected shortly."

Probes Death Of Maciejewski

Coroner Potter's Inquiry Reveals South Side Man Died As Result Of Beating

POLICE DECLARE ASSAILANTS KNOWN

Identity of the assailants of Andrew Maciejewski, of 1609 Hanna street, who died in the Jameson Memorial hospital, January 29, of injuries received when he was attacked by two colored men on Moravia street, near Long avenue, is known to the police, it was revealed by Chief of Detectives H. Ray Showalter, in testifying at the inquest conducted by Coroner Orville Potter in the court room of Alderman J. J. Blonk, Tuesday afternoon.

The coroner's jury brought in a verdict that Maciejewski came to his death as a result of injuries received at the hands of unknown parties.

Police Find Maciejewski

Officer John Gols told of being in the police cruiser car with Officer Robert Hanna on the evening of January 27, when they came upon Maciejewski, crawling on his hands and knees on the sidewalk on the east side of Moravia street, just south of Long avenue, about 9:45 o'clock.

They went to Maciejewski's aid, and Officer Hanna assisted him into the police car. Gols said that a boy there told him two colored men had just run away from the scene up Center alley, and that he had gone up the alley looking for the men. They did not find them and he returned to the car, and at the suggestion of Hanna, questioned Maciejewski about his condition. He said that Maciejewski denied that he had been attacked or injured, although he seemed in a daze. They took him to his home, where he got out of the car and walked into the house by himself.

Officer Robert Hanna related the same story. When they helped Maciejewski to his feet, Hanna stated that he had asked him if he had been hit by anyone, and he replied that he hadn't been struck.

Saw Man Attacked

Stanley Walczak, aged thirteen, of Terrace avenue, said that he was coming home from a movie with another boy from his neighborhood by the name of Stanley Lobensky, and they saw men fighting. They stood in the entrance of a restaurant and watched them. They said that two of the men knocked the third man down, and then went through his pockets. When another boy by the name of Stanley Noga came along, the men ran up the alley. Walczak said that they had their hats pulled down over their eyes and he was unable to see their faces. They left the scene, walking past Maciejewski, and after they had gotten about a hundred feet up the street, saw the police car drive up. Stanley Maciejewski, son of the deceased, said that he had seen his father about 7:30 on the evening of January 27, and that he was all right at that time. He had gone to the Falcon hall, when he was called home and told that there was something the matter with his father.

He tried to talk to his father when he got home, but was unable to get him to talk. He was in bed when he arrived and he said he noticed blood on the pillow, so he summoned a doctor. The doctor said he was unable to make a thorough examination because of the fact that his father had been drinking, and the doctor said he would return and look at him the next day.

When he arose the next morning, he said he thought his father was sleeping as he seemed to be snoring and he went to work. He was called home about 3:30 o'clock that afternoon when his father became worse, and he had him removed to the hospital. He died the next morning, January 29, about 9:45 a. m.

Skull Fractured

Dr. Charles Nader told of being called to examine Mr. Maciejewski on the evening of January 27. He said the injured man was in a comatose condition, and breathing hard. He seemed to have an injury to his jaw, but that he could detect no outward appearance of an injury there.

He read a report of the autopsy conducted by Dr. W. W. Bissell at the Jameson Memorial hospital on January 29, which stated that the examination revealed Mr. Maciejewski had a fracture of the lower left jaw, a fracture of the skull above the left ear, and a large blood clot on the left side of the brain, which had caused his death.

Chief of Detectives H. Ray Showalter, told of investigating the circumstances surrounding Maciejewski's death. He said that on February 4, police had in custody a colored man named Leroy Carter, charged with escape from the Mountville prison in West Virginia, who said he had been living with a woman named Caroline Jordan. While Carter was in jail, the Jordan woman went to the Johnson Bronze Company and drew his pay, after which she left town.

He said that while he was staying with Caroline Jordan, that two men came there three or four days before he was arrested. He had previously been arrested by the police for hitting Miss Jordan, and he had come to police headquarters and paid his fine of $5, which she said had been secured from these two men, who claimed they had gotten it when they hit an old man over the head with a piece of pipe, which was covered. They stayed at the Jordan home, and when they found the old man had died, they left town. Showalter said that their investigation revealed the fact that these two men made a business of hitting drunk people over the head and taking their money.

Mrs. Maciejewski, wife of the son, told of her father-in-law being brought home, and of her concern for him the next day when she could not arouse him from his apparent sleep, and that she had finally called in a doctor, who said that the man was unconscious and should be taken to the hospital, and that she had called her husband who had him taken to the hospital.

She said that on the evening he was brought home, that he had told her that someone had hit him.

Lawrence County Has Best Safety Record In State, Report Shows

NO ACCIDENTS IN TWO YEARS

By WARREN VAN DYKE

Secretary of Highways.

HARRISBURG, March 3.—The Bureau of Safety in the Department of Highways is continuing to set an enviable record.

The function of this bureau is to safeguard highway department employees in the field. For the year ending December 31, 1936, engineering district 6, embracing Bucks, Chester, Delaware and Montgomery counties, ranked first among the department's 12 engineering districts. All of the workers in district 6 have taken hold of the safety problem in an efficient manner and much of the credit is due Henry C. McIlwaine, Jr., the district's safety representative. Under his guidance, the district now publishes the Guard Rail, a bulletin devoted to the promotion of safety. With the slogan "Accidents Don't Happen—They Are Caused," district 6 is performing a public service of real value.

Engineering district 7, located in Harrisburg and embracing Dauphin, Lebanon, Perry, Juniata, Mifflin and Lancaster counties, also deserves high praise. This district, averaging nearly 1600 employees, worked through January without a lost-time accident. This is the first time in the history of the department that an engineering district has accomplished this feat.

Another outstanding record is held by the maintenance forces of Lawrence county in engineering district 11. This county has not had a lost-time accident in more than two years. Lawrence is the only county in the state which can boast such a record.

In 1936, two-thirds of all fatalities to department employees resulted from accidents for which publicly-owned vehicles were directly responsible. District safety representatives are qualified by the American Red Cross to instruct classes in first aid. The bureau conducts accident prevention meetings throughout the state and makes a thorough inspection of all

Jones, who is a graduate of the local high school, has been prominent in dramatic and musical events on the Clarion campus since enrolling there.

THIS STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA

HISTORIC PAXTON TOWNSHIP

Do you know that Paxton township, in Dauphin county, was laid out in 1729?

This historic tract of land was surveyed in that year. Among the early inhabitants was Thomas Lingle, who founded the village of Linglestown in 1765. On June 10, 1774, the inhabitants of Paxton township organized and drew up resolutions against Great Britain, and 200 men from this region were the first to be at Cambridge, Mass., in 1775, as volunteers in the Revolution.

Among the places of historic significance claimed for this section is the oldest house in Dauphin county, erected in 1726; oldest used church in the United States, built in 1774; the Log College established before 1739; Fort Mackey, dating back to 1765; also sites of nine forts that were points of protection for the early inhabitants. At the site of Fort Paxton an Indian arrow is found in the heart of a tree. The home of Thomas Lingle is still standing. The last Indian inhabitants are buried in a nearby cemetery. It is said that the largest tree in Pennsylvania stands at Linglestown. Another interesting tree is one with "twin limbs".

Troop 5 Scouts Banquet Guests

Lions Club Honors Own Troop At Annual Dinner; Casillo Speaks

Boy Scouts of Troop 5, sponsored by the Lions club here, were honor guests last night at a testimonial banquet which the club held for the boys in the cafeteria of the George Washington junior-senior high school. The dinner is an annual affair.

The boys of the troop, headed by Scoutmaster Thomas P. Smathers, and Assistant Scoutmaster Daniel A. Carroll, attended the dinner in uniform.

President Numa F. Vidal, Jr., opened the evening program at the conclusion of the delicious dinner served by a group of ladies headed by Mrs. Rachel P. Taylor, director of school cafeterias here. Vidal welcomed the scouts and told them how proud the Lions are of them.

Dr. Jay L. Reed, head of the Lions troop committee, was presented by Vidal as the chairman for the evening.

Casillo Night's Speaker. It was Dr. Reed who introduced the speaker, Nicholas R. Casillo, a high school instructor and lecturer on nature subjects. Casillo, whose topic was "The Cry of the Eagle," came to tell the scouts and the Lions of his thrilling adventures while on an Alaskan jaunt back in his school days. It was an interesting tale, and the boys and men listened to every word of his exciting trip to the Alaskan archipelago.

Before Mr. Casillo spoke, the Lions and the boys made the cafeteria ring with their songs. Lion Ezra D. Marvin led them.

Smathers, Carroll Heard. Scoutmaster Smathers and his colleague, Mr. Carroll, voiced the troop's thanks for the dinner. They also declared they will continue to carry on to make Troop 5 an even greater leader in scouting.

The testimonial affair took the place of the regular Tuesday luncheon of the club.

Dr. Reed was chairman of the committee on arrangements, assisted by his co-members on the troop committee, Browne K. Thacker, a Lion and principal at Washington, J. A. McNeill, James Vogan and President Vidal.

A new member of the Lions, James E. Peacock, representative of the H. J. Heinz company here, was introduced at the dinner.

SERVANT SUES FOR BACK WAGES (International News Service) LIMA, O., March 3.—Charging the late Miss Adelia Satterthwaite owed her and her two sons $15,000 for "services," Mrs. Hattie Moss, Negro nurse, has filed suit for that amount against the $1,000,000 estate of Miss Satterthwaite, 80-year-old Lima recluse in Allen county common pleas court.

A death bed will bequeathed $150,000 "for the support of maiden ladies over the age of 50," to be administered by a Dayton church. The will left $500 to Mrs. Moss.

A suit challenging validity of the will of Miss Satterthwaite was filed in the same court last August by three cousins who were not mentioned in the will. They are William E. Clark and J. William Blackburn, Lima, and Addie Arner, Salem.

Navy Invites Bids On Steel For New Ships

Will Ask Bids On 20,000,000 Pounds Of Steel For New Warships

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 3—The Navy Department greeted the apparent breakdown in the impasse which has held up its warship construction program for several months by announcing bids will be invited immediately for approximately 20,000,000 pounds of steel.

Bids on this huge order of steel, needed for construction of destroyers and submarines in bringing the navy up to treaty strength, will be offered, the department announced. They will be opened March 16.

The department proceeded with its steel bids on assumption that establishment of the 40-hour week removed the obstacle which has prevented the navy from obtaining steel.

A navy spokesman predicted the decision by the steel industry will clear the way immediately for a commencement of construction of six destroyers and three submarines, which has been delayed since Dec. 1. The navy also felt the last threat of holding up construction on the two new 35,000-ton battleships has been removed. Keels for these two new warships are scheduled to be laid July 1.

One of the strangest U. S. army discharges ever to be recorded in the court house was placed on record Tuesday when that of Shephard K. Smoots was filed.

The discharge is a regular one. Signed by Major C. W. Sellers of Camp Sherman, O., May 14, 1919, showing all the necessary information, but Shephard K. Smoots was a dog, owned by the late Policeman Robert H. Dukes, whose own discharge was recorded on Tuesday.

The discharge shows that Smoots was born in Paris, France, and when enlisted was one foot six inches in height and by occupation was a bum. Enlisted March 13, 1919, at St. Louis, France, and served in the battles of Vin Blanc, Cognac and Rum. When discharged received a bonus of one chunk of hardtack.

There is no jest about the discharge, it is a regular army form, identical with those issued the men of the army when they were discharged.

C. R. Ward, supervisor for the Department of Revenue, was in the court house on Tuesday checking up on records of personal property tax. At a recent banquet in Harrisburg, Mr. Ward was awarded the state championship of Democratic club organization work. Mr. Ward has 34 clubs affiliated with the state organization and 64 not affiliated.

Letters testamentary have been issued by Register and Recorder William R. Hanna to John J. McCoy as executor in the estate of Brudge A. McCart, late of Union township, who died February 3, 1937. Letters of administration have been issued to Margaret E. Bowers as executrix in the estate of John C. Bowers, late of New Castle, who died February 10, 1937.

It is not known whether the grand jury will follow the usual custom of recommending a new court house or some additions this time or not. Before they finish their duties they are taken on a tour of inspection in which they take a look at the jail and the various departments of the court house.

In the minds of some people there may be some question as to what a grand jury is. Actually the grand jury is the "grand inquest" and its function is merely to ascertain if the commonwealth has sufficient evidence to warrant holding a trial by jury. The grand jury listens to no defense testimony for if the commonwealth has sufficient evidence to hold the business of ascertaining the guilt or innocence is up to a jury of 12 citizens.

Prof. John McIntyre, of the faculty of the law school of the University of Pittsburgh, was in the court room Tuesday hearing an involved legal battle over a damage verdict that originated nine years ago. Since then the case has been in and out of court almost every year.

AROUND CITY HALL

For the first time in probably a week Mayor Charles E. McGrath presided over police court in the courtroom, city building annex on Tuesday. Fifteen persons came before him, all on a charge of having imbibed too freely of intoxicants. Some of the defendants were repeaters and others made their entry before the police judge for the first time. All of them were liberated without a fine.

Indications point to a traffic court being established here by Mayor Charles E. McGrath. As yet the details must be straightened out. In the past auto owners have had two days in which to appear at the police station.

Detective Thomas Lynch is working the daylight turn and Detective Jack Young, the four p. m. to midnight turn at police headquarters for two weeks. Standards for the new lights are being erected in Jefferson, East and North streets. The globes will be fastened to ornamental brackets. Third accident since a light was installed at North Jefferson and Grant streets occurred Monday. Very few collisions occur there since the light was installed.

State Balance Shows Increase

Four Mill Property Tax Has Brought $7,000,000 Into Treasury

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, March 3—Proceeds from the four mill personal property tax, it was declared today, increased the treasury's general fund by more than $7,000,000 since last month.

The treasury reported it started March with a general fund balance of $33,217,226 as against the January 31 balance of $25,654,726. The motor license fund had a balance of $16,465,066, but was expected to be depleted shortly by $5,700,000 in another "raid" for relief purposes.

A treasury official disclosed the commonwealth by May 31 would have paid $15,000,000 into the special sinking fund to pay off tax anticipation note issues.

With receipts during February reported at $43,935,786 and total payments at $28,326,539, a grand total treasury balance of $64,047,156 remained on hand, compared with $69,437,909 at the end of January.

MIDLAND PLANT TO REPAIR DAMAGE

(International News Service)
EAST LIVERPOOL, O., March 3—Officials of the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Co., located at Midland, Pa., seven miles east of here, are completing plans for the reconstruction of their plant, swept by fire which caused damage estimated at $500,000.

Operations have been resumed in the undamaged wing of the building.

Life in America begins at 80 for Mrs. Maria DeFrances, who has just arrived at the home of her only child, Anthony, last of her 11 children, at Youngstown, O., after leaving her native Italy and crossing the Atlantic alone. Eyes afire with the joy of living, her every manner reflects happiness in the adventure of leaving a village in her old age to join her son in the new world. "I want a set of false teeth. I want to learn English. I want spectacles. I want to be an American," she tells visitors excitedly.

Maud O'Dell, who died in her dressing room in a New York theater Saturday night while playing one of the principal characters in "Tobacco Road", was at one time the toast of Youngstown's stage door "Johnnies". When Himmelman's Ideals was one of the leading brass band repertoire companies Miss O'Dell was leading woman and her husband in private life, Willard Mack, her leading man.

She was a pretty 18-year-old blonde of Cleveland who made change at a skeeball run and he sold candy for a carnival that was making its last stand across the way. They chatted a lot. The girl introduced him to her mother who operated another booth nearby. The elder woman said "Why, hello Bert. Don't you know me? And this is your daughter?" It was the former wife and daughter of Bert Iberson of New York whom he had not seen for 15 years. The mother had married again and Dorothy had taken her mother's new name.

What can be done when the only record of a case pending appeal to the higher courts is in a unique type of shorthand and there is no one capable of transcribing the testimony into everyday English? That question confronted Butler County Judge John H. Wilson with the opening this week of the March term of court. Owing to the death of Court Stenographer Edwin Riddle a few days ago the testimony in the case probably never will be transcribed. "I doubt if there is a man in the world who can read Mr. Riddle's notes," the judge said.

Mistinguet, of the famous legs, is 49 years old, if you please, and not 70, on no less an authority than herself. "I was born in Enghein in 1888," she declared emphatically in a press interview at Paris. "That makes me 49."

Spain Is Throwing Bull Fights Over For Boxing And Bullets These Days

ITALIAN MILER HOPES TO WIN

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 3.—Along Bash Boulevard today we find Jack Dempsey, fanned the color of an old shoe after his trip to Puerto Rico, where he vowed the natives, refereeing the Escobar-Salica bantam title fight.

Jack reports all the Central and South American countries are going wild over fighting. "The boxing game," sez Jack, "is making those Spanish-speaking nations forget their bull fights. . . and the Toreador is now a back number. . . What they want now is a guy with a good left hand. . . and not someone who can tackle a bull's ribs with a shiv."

Take Up Boxing

Jack says all the natives are trying to follow in the footsteps of Montez, Godoy, Escobar and Brescia, and predicts American rings soon will be overrun with them.

Max Baer and his manager Anell Hoffman, have been playing hide and seek with the Garden's process servers for three days. . . they are due to slip on board the Bernadina today. . . for their jaunt to London.

Mumy Johnson's had a dozen sleuths trying to find the elusive pair for days. . . all the time they've been hibernating at Mike Jacob's country place down in Jersey.

Reminds me Mike himself is in a local hospital for a few days. . . while the Medicos work over a pair of mean sinuses.

Try New Drink

Puerto Ricans, sez Lou Erix, Escobar's pilot, are now going nutty over a new drink. . . the Don Q. Hyve Igo, called after the sports writer if that and you'll feel worse than if it bounced a couple of right hands off your whiskers.

Al Weill is trying to induce Pedro Montez to meet Lou Ambers. . . in one of those over-the-weight affairs. . . but Pedro insists Ambers lay his lightweight title on the line. . . if he does, the fight mob thinks the title will surely change hands.

Francis Albright, the press agent, figures the 22,000 bowlers who will compete in the 37th annual A. B. C. tourney starting here next week. . . will consume at least 110,000 quarts of beer a day. . . "It's a poor kegler," sez Francis, "who can't knock off five quarts during a game of Milwaukee and St. Louis bowlers, of course, go much higher on the brew."

Good News For Ruppert

That will be good news for brewer Jake Ruppert, who has been weeping over the way his Yankees have been chipping extra chunks off his bank roll.

And Luigi Beccali, the Mussolini miler, thinks he's about due to take any or all of our top notches in his next start here.

Spring training time reminds Ed Barrow of the green farm boy rookie years ago, who'd never been in a hotel until he hit camp. . . seems he spent the first two days riding up and down in the elevators for fun. . . until an old timer told him the hotel was charging him a dime per ride. . . then the rookie spent the next three weeks climbing up six long weary flights of stairs to his room. . . until somebody took pity on him and tipped him off to the facts of life. . . Selah.

How silly of the Germans to think Hitler a super-man. We smart Americans believe in no super-man unless he's an engineer or a boxer.

Some Lines From Yesteryear

Romeo Paellli's first fight was not very lucrative. A glove battle was arranged with another South Sider. They went across the Big Run and before quite a crowd battled hard for more than six rounds. After the bout a collection was taken up and the winner, Paellli, got 15 cents. . . One of the quickest ends to a main bout were occurred when Mike Strub dumped Jimmie Hackley. The bout went two rounds. Maxie had too much height and reach for the Heosier. Previously Hackley had fought and floored Tony Terrera at Indianapolis. The Hackley-Strub bout proved a dud. . . Alex Thomas, mat promoter of Youngstown, formerly resided here. In his early days he was a weight-lifter. He is a powerful man yet and weighs more than 200 pounds. . . Custy Morini one of the best punchers in the amateur lightweight ranks hereabouts several years ago. He is no longer in the biff-bang business.

Carnegie Tech Wins From Titans 36-25

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., March 3.—After 38 straight wins on their floor, the Westminster Titans lost to a fighting Carnegie Tech team last night 36-25. The Titans lead at the half 14-9, a lead which the Titans were never able to overcome.

During the last half, the Titans were handicapped by the loss of Grubb who left the game on fouls and Demo, with an eye-injury. Field goals were 13 to 8 in favor of the Techmen. High-point honors for the game went to Pat, Tech guard, who looped four goals and three fouls for 11 points.

Coach Hannum's Tech team made up for their early-season 29-22 defeat by the Titans on their own floor. Four times in the first half the game see-sawed back and forth until Tech went into the lead on Gibson's free shot, 10-9, a lead which the Titans failed to overcome.

For the Titans, Demo, Titan forward, was high-point man, with 9 points on three goals and three fouls. The Titans missed Grubb's 11-point average, as the lanky guard came through with only 2 points.

The game was rough from the start and substitutions frequent. The Tech attack was built chiefly around Slaminko and James under the basket for set-up shots, and Pat's tosses inside the defense. Showing power to break into the Tech defense but inability to make shots when they counted, the Titans, a good second-half team, failed to break down their 5 point disadvantage which the Tech team held at the end of the first half.

Grubb opened the scoring with a free one; but James took one under immediately to give the Tech men a 2-1. Backus and Krivosh followed with charity tosses for the Titans; but again Gibson scored close in for the Titans to bring the score 4-3. Pat took a long one and James a free one, and the Titans lagged by four points.

Backus, Titan center, shot a deep one, and Krivosh took one from the side to tie the score 7 all. Gibson's free one broke the tie, and Krivosh dribbled in for a basket to see-saw the score back in the Titans' favor. Gibson's shot in front gave Tech the advantage 10-9. Slaminko and Crastley made charity tosses for Tech, and Miller, Titus under the basket added four points to the Titan score to end the half with Tech leading 14-9.

Demo went under for a basket as the half opened and Grubb took a free one to cut the Tech lead down to two points, 12-14. Then the Titans went on a scoring spree, with a foul by Miller, one by Pat, Miskevics from the deep side, Miller under, and another foul by Pat to put the Tech men six points in the lead. Miller's free throw almost tied the Titans, 18-19, but again the Hannum men pulled away with a charity toss by Pat and Gibson's toss in front. Both sides added points until with the score 23-26 against the Roarkmen, the Titan defense loosened and Slaminko and Pat added four field goals to the Tech advantage, to give the Titans a 12 point lead. Backus' free throw ended the scoring, with the score 25-36 against Westminster.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 3.—Splices of baseball color are appearing in training camps. . . giving the lie to that annual spring story about college men who don't eat peas with the knife supplanting the immortal Jack Keefe, "You Know Mr. Al."

Daytona Beach, where the Cardinals train this year, promise to be one of the loudest spots along the Grapefruit trail. . . with Dizzy Dean, Pepper Martin, Jim Medwick and a new riot of red named Arnold (Mickey) Owen. . . Owen is a rookie catcher, but he can pitch verbally with the best of the Gas House guys. . . already he has told the boys that he was offered contracts at the same time by the Yankees and Cards, but he accepted the St. Louis invitation because he wanted to be on the same team as Pepper Martin. . . Mickey isn't worried about that fast ball of Dizzy Dean getting away from him. . . he says he could catch Dean in a rocking chair and read a good book at the same time.

The Reds have a pitcher who is sure to catch close scrutiny. . . Lee Grissom, a southpaw giant, who is spreading sunshine among the Reds in training at Tampa. . . Grissom tells the tale of rowing a boat over the center field fence at Cincy when the flood was at its high point in the boat were Gene Schott, another pitcher, and the groundkeeper. . . when the three were right in the middle of the park. Grissom stood up in the boat and scared his companions stiff by rocking it a little, as if experimenting. . . when the boys complained, he retorted, "It's a good thing you guys have got good clothes on or I'd give you a real thrill. . . there's some Rubie Waddell in that lead."

Gabler Jants Pie

Frank Gabler is doing all right in the camp of Los Gigantes in Havana. . . in the ball park, which is called Cerveza Tropical (Cerveza means beer, and Tropical a trade name), there is a sign on the right field foul line reading: "398 Pies."

Frank (Gabbo) Gabler wanted to know where you could buy that brand of pastry. . . pies is the Spanish for feet.

You probably are waiting for some kind of story about Bob Feller, 18, in the ball park, which is called Cerveza Tropical (Cerveza means beer, and Tropical a trade name), there is a sign on the right field foul line reading: "398 Pies."

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Jesko, forward for the Pitt Panthers was the ace scorer against Georgetown last night at Pittsburgh and the Panthers won 34 to 22. Jesko shot a total of 13 points in his last game for the Panthers. The score found Pitt in the lead, 17 to 9, at the end of the first half.

Thiel defeated Grove City at Greenville last night, 48 to 35. The first half was a nip and tuck affair and the score was 30 to 19 in favor of Grove City at the halfway mark. Thiel clicked in the third period and went to the fore. Dierbach, center for Thiel, scored 13 points.

The Slippery Rock basketball team suffered their fifth defeat of the season at the hands of Edinboro Teachers at Slippery Rock, 41 to 37. The Uptate Teachers they defeated on an early lead which they retained except for a short time in the third quarter. Case, center for Edinboro, hooped 12 points.

Washington & Jefferson administrators a 67 to 40 chastising to Geneva at Washington. The rout started in the first half, the Presidents leading at the end of the middle of the game 33 to 21. Jeannette, forward and Bougher, center for Washington & Jefferson scored a total of 33 points.

Seventeen undefeated seasons in 21 as coach. That is the record of Edward C. Gallagher, Oklahoma A. M. wrestling mentor. From 1921-1922 his teams won 73 consecutive dual meets. All told, he has 110 victories against four defeats and three ties. He has produced five national intercollegiate and A. A. U. champions.

Frank Ruiz, of McKeesport, a former Pitt line star, was added to the new Carnegie Tech football coaching staff yesterday. He will tutor the guards for Head Coach Bill Westerman. Ruiz went to Pitt after prepping at McKeesport high school and at Pierce, Philadelphia.

J. Gilbert Hall, Orange, N. J., seeded sixth went down to defeat before George Seavenag, Jackson State, 1-2, in the quarter final round at New York yesterday. The other two stars so far eliminated were Gregory Mangin, defending champion, and Art Hendrix, who was seeded third.

Budget Estimates For Naval Supply Bill Are Slashed Considerably

Would Jeopardize National Security To Reduce Present Number Of Vessels

Navy Should Be Built To "Treaty Strength" House Committee Says

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 3.—In the face of a warning from the navy's fighting chief that national security may be jeopardized, the house appropriations committee Tuesday slashed budget estimates for the annual naval supply bill $35,870,281.

The bill, as reported to the house, carried $526,555,428 to run the navy next year. This compared with the budget request, which satisfied the navy, of $562,425,709 and last year's figure of $526,192,532.

Hearings, made public with the bill, revealed that Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, testified that the navy had cut its requests to the bone.

Jeopardize Security
"I can state that it would, in my opinion, be jeopardizing security to reduce our present number of vessels and aircraft in full commission, to delay or reduce our shipbuilding or aircraft programs, or to fail to build up our shore establishments and reserve stocks in support of the fleet," said Admiral Leahy.

Chief reductions made by the committee were $27,000,000 in deferred ship construction, enlisted personnel, shore construction and strategic mineral reserves.

Defending its reductions, the committee said "the truth is that but a relatively small portion of the latter sum may be said to be anything but a deferment."

Rep. Umstead (D. of North Carolina, chairman of the subcommittee which framed the bill, asserted that the reduction will not hamper the navy.

Quite A Bit Of Money
"We gave the navy all the money that it can spend next year," he asserted.

Forecasting higher future costs as the navy is built to "treaty strength" the committee said:

"New and larger units, modernity and more technically equipped are continually joining up with the fleet. It is predicted that 38 new vessels will be commissioned during the present fiscal year and that 29 others will be in readiness during the fiscal year 1938. These entail additional costs for personnel, new outfits, operating supplies, and fleet maintenance and operation."

The committee maintained the naval supply bill was based upon the policy of congress of building a "treaty navy."

Provisions Of Bill
Chief provisions in the bill are: Increase in enlisted strength from average 100,000 to 105,000 men, an average of 500 fewer than estimated for by budget.

New ship construction, $130,000,000, a decrease of $27,000,000. Includes $15,179,000 to carry on work on two new battleships to cost $60,137,000 each.

Provides for 81 new warships of all classes.

Permits Marine Corps to increase force 500 men.

Provides $49,658,800 for Navy Air Corps, $10,926,530 above last year.

Allow air program of 251 replacement airplanes, 104 additional, 42 for naval reserves and two non-rigid airplanes.

The committee, aroused at possibility of the navy entering into extensive airplane manufacture at its Philadelphia factory, included a "rider" prohibiting use of money for manufacture of airplane engines except for experimental or training purposes.

The contract signed between Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation and the S. W. O. C. the labor leader predicted, will result eventually in dissolution of the much criticized employe representation plans and the complete unionization of steel.

DiMaggio Wants
$17,500 For His Baseball Prowess

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—Joe DiMaggio, one of the New York Yankees' holdouts, announced today he doesn't intend to leave for the Yankees' spring training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., until he gets a satisfactory contract.

The star outfielder who made a sensational debut in the majors last year is believed to be holding out for $17,500, but he refused to discuss the terms.

Likewise he didn't feel he should discuss what Col. Jake Ruppert has offered him.

"I don't want to talk about it," said Joe. "I don't want to get in bad with my bosses. But I'm still a holdout. I have no intention of going to spring training until I sign a contract."

DiMaggio would have to leave today to reach St. Petersburg Monday, when the Yankees assemble.

"But," DiMaggio repeated again, "I'm staying here."

fered strenuous protests against it. This is the bill which limits working hours of women to five days and 40 hours, with a few exceptions. The delegates considered the bill discriminatory against women and in violation of their rights as citizens guaranteed under the constitution.
